For Sweet Charity's Sake.
NEW YORK, April 20.—The irony of fate is once more evidenced in the fact that, while the late Henry E. Abbey, the famous grand opera impresario, made hundreds of thousands of dollars for foreign and American singers, and small fortunes for the owners of the various theaters and auditoriums in which his performances of grand opera were given, from time to time throughout the country, yet he died so poor that both his wife and his only child by his first wife were left in absolutely straitened circumstances. Hence sympathetic New York will turn out in force at a performance tonight for the benefit of Kitty Abbey, and in which it is understood that Mrs. Abbey, who is in bad health and has been compelled to give up acting in London, will also share. Mr. Graa has given the Metropolitan opera house, Calve, Engle, Litvigne, the two De-Rozes, La Salle, Campanari, Plancon and others of stage fame will take part in selections from Romeo and Juliet, Carmen and Mefistofele.

EASTERN WAR NEWS.

Fighting Has Been Hot and Furious for Two Days.

OVER 20,000 MEN KILLED.

Reports From the Front are Conflicting: Some Say the Greeks are Being Worst. While Other Reports Show That They Have the Advantage.

LONDON, April 20.—England will officially declare her neutrality tomorrow, and the other powers are expected to follow suit. If they do not grave fears of a greater war may well be entertained. The feeling throughout Italy is intensely in favor of Greece.

Intervention by the powers is generally expected when Edhem Pasha reaches Larissa. There will, however, first be a great battle on the plains.

King George left Greece for the front today. It is estimated that the loss of the Greeks and Turks in the past two days battles has been twenty thousand men.

The Turkish ambassador in London received a dispatch from the port today stating that throughout Monday a series of conflicts raged upon Greek territory in all which the Turks were victorious. The dispatch says, "the Turkish army will encompass the Greeks and force them to fight a decisive battle today, (Tuesday) in which the whole opposing army will be engaged."

PARIS, April 20.—Armenian massacres more terrible than those which recently started the Christian world are expected to follow the Turkish victory in Greece.

ATHENS, April 20.—The blockade has been raised. The Italian fleet leaves for Salonica and probably the other squadrons will go to the same place.

Advices received this morning show that a series of conflicts of the most sanguinary character have been raging for the last two days. The Turks are on the offensive and have made incessant and furious onsets upon the Greek positions. The Turkish losses are very heavy. The peasantry is rising by thousands and hurrying forward to assist the Greeks. They have shown splendid courage and their quaint costumes are observable everywhere. Their knowledge of the country is of great service to the Greeks.

The Greek squadron have resumed the bombardment of Preveza, but the Turkish batteries are still replying. The Greek ironclad squadron left Piræus today under sealed orders. The Greeks have occupied several strategic points around Damasia, and it is feared a massacre took place at Preveza during the bombardment. HAVANA, April 20.—General Luque, who succeeded General Bernal, has resigned and leaves for Spain by the next steamer. He is outspoken in his criticism Weyler's tactics and says that Cuba is virtually lost to Spain through Weyler's management.

Weyler's personal investigations in Santa Clara has resulted in some sensational disclosures. The governor was sent here by General Weyler, but eluded the Havana authorities and secretly embarked for the United States with his stealings, amounting to a quarter of a million.

AN IMPORTANT OPINION

From the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Suing for Injuries Received in Mexico.

An opinion was rendered by the United Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans, on the 12th instant, which is recognized by the bar generally as of great importance, and of particular interest and importance to the attorneys of Western and Southern Texas. It was rendered in the case of Edward Evey, plaintiff in error, against the Mexican Central Railway company, Limited, defendant in error. The case involved the question of the right of an employee, being a citizen of the United States, to sue for injuries received in the republic of Mexico, through the negligence of a railway corporation doing business in that republic, but incorporated in the United States. The opinion of the supreme court of Texas, in the case of the National Railway company against Jackson, is reviewed, and the federal court at New Orleans takes issue with our supreme court on the very proposition asserted by it, and holds that the federal courts have and will entertain jurisdiction in such cases. The following language is used in the opinion referred to:

"While the act of negligence complained of was committed in the republic of Mexico, neither of the parties is a citizen of Mexico, but both are citizens of the United States, and therefore there ought to be no question of international comity in the case, further than to enquire whether the laws of Mexico give a right to the plaintiff to recover damages for such negligence, and the extent of such right. The laws of the republic of Mexico create a civil liability in favor of the person injured by negligence, and give a distinct civil remedy therefor in the nature of pecuniary damages; to the same effect are the laws of Texas. A right arising under, or a liability imposed by, either the common law or the statute of a state may, where the action is transitory, be asserted and enforced in any circuit court of the United States having jurisdiction of the subject, matter and parties."

The court proceeds to say that the laws of Mexico are peculiarly clear and plain in defining the rights and the civil rights resulting therefrom. That the objection that plaintiff should show a reason, before being allowed to sue in the courts of this country, why he had not brought his action in the republic of Mexico, is one to which the attention of a court was never before called and has no precedent to support it; that the judgment of the trial court in the premises would be a final determination of the rights of the parties; that the court is not asked in this connection to enforce any penal law of the republic of Mexico, but merely to enforce the civil right of the plaintiff granted by the laws of Mexico, occasioned by an act of negligence such as gives a right of action under the law in any civilized country; that the fact that the defendant is sued in a forum where extraordinary damages such as are allowed by the law of Mexico cannot be recovered, is a matter for which it ought to thank heaven and not complain.

The plaintiff in error, Mr. Evey, in whose favor the case was reversed was represented in the appellate court by Judge W. B. Brack and Millard Patterson of this city.

Juan Olgin, aged 21, died at the hospital last evening of pulmonary gangrene, a very unusual disease. The body immediately became so offensive as to drive every body out of the ward and even the stomach of Undertaker Ross who was called in, was unable to stand the racket. The internment will probably be at Socorro.

Dame Rumor hath it that a good looking train dispatcher of this city is shortly to be wedded to a brigat girl who stands high in local society.

It's wonderful how much health has to do with married happiness. Sick-ness affects the temper. You can't be nor make others happy, when you are ill. When you find yourself irritable, easily worried, beginning to "run-down" it's because your blood is getting poor. You need richer blood and more fit. Your blood-making organs need to be vitalized by Dr. Fieck's Golden Medical D.S. remedy. It imparts new power to produce an abundance of healthy red corpuscles, and gives you a fresh supply of pure, rich blood. It's a blood-curator. It is for everyone whose blood is impure or in a poor, "run-down" condition. It prevents the germs of disease from getting a hold on your system. Even after disease is still on you, it is driven out by the blood-cleaning properties of the "D.S. remedy." It is a perfect cure for general and nervous debility, catarrh, malaria, eczema, erysipelas, scurvy, and every form of blood disease. It's called a consump-tion-cure, but even consumption, which has its roots in the blood—is driven out by the "Golden Medical Discovery." If taken in time. The "Discovery" is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians and medical writers in this country.
